In this article, I will be teaching you how to get a girl to like you from 10 psychological tricks you can implement. Making a girl attracted to you can be as easy as having an amazing life and asking her to join, but there are many other seduction techniques and persuasion methods to make her want to be your girlfriend. This is a guest post by my older brother, Dee, from SICerts. Confidence is one of the top traits that attracts women. In fact, I would put confidence above money and looks. Remember Midori's post on alpha males? Well, one of the main differences between the alpha male and the average guy is confidence. The [...] As a social confidence coach, I work regularly with guys who struggle with keeping conversations going. In particular, they have trouble prolonging discussions with members of the opposite sex, which is why how to keep a conversation going with a girl is a topic that I often address. The reason why men are so attracted to women who are aloof is because they secretly hate to be ignored! The next time the guy you're seeing calls you, don't be so quick to answer the phone.
