A nurse is caring for a 14-year-old boy in the pediatrics department who needs to have surgery right away. The nurse has several other patients to care for as well, but the surgical team arrives to take the patient to the operating room. The nurse has not yet finished her charting on the patient. The social workers, the nurse, and the nurse-manager have no legal rights to give consent in this scenario. Answer A. The massive cell destruction resulting from chemotherapy may place the client at risk for developing renal calculi; adding allopurinol decreases this risk by preventing the breakdown of xanthine to uric acid. The nurse should help the mother restrain the child to prevent him from injuring himself. The nurse should call the operator to page for seizure assistance. The nurse should clear the area and position the client safely. 12.
